FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1886.

Herr Most, the anarchist, is now putting in practice in jail, the doctrines he preached outside. He is living and moving on a footing of perfect equality with thieves and retired gentlemen of all grades of society. It is to be hoped he may prove a martyr to his principles.

The Emigrant, speaking of the Manitoba and Northwestern Railway, says: "Its northwestern terminus will be Prince Albert, 430 miles northwest on the main Saskatchewan River." At present there are 130 miles of this road under operation, leaving 300 to be built. Fifty more miles will be in operation this fall. At the rate of fifty miles a year we will just have to wait five years before we hear the snort of the iron horse hereabouts.

Because Senator O'Donohoe sold himself to the Conservative party for a baubee—a good deal more than he was worth—and the baubee is not forthcoming, the Irish Canadian wants its co-religionists disfranchised. We would recommend our Catholic friends to accede to this proposition, at least so far as Senator O'Donohoe and Pat Boyle are concerned. It would go a great way in stopping the "present truculent system" inaugurated and carried on by O'Donohoe, Boyle & Co.

The bill respecting fishing by foreign vessels, lately passed by the Dominion Parliament provides that any vessel which, after having entered Canadian waters, fails to comply with the laws of Canada or the United Kingdom, shall forfeit tackle, rigging, apparel, furniture, stores and cargo. Under this bill it will not be necessary to prove specific offences, as heretofore. A vessel entering Canadian waters must prove that she has entered for one or more of the four purposes specified by the treaty of 1818. Failing to prove that she incurs forfeiture.

James E. Steen, Secretary of the Winnipeg Board of Trade, in a recent article on Northwestern Trade Progress, gives a list of places in the Northwest containing 24 and upwards of business concerns, and says there are 249 other points throughout the Northwest with less than 25 traders in each. Since Prince Albert is not mentioned among the former we must protest against the impression likely to be created that we belong to the latter, and we beg to call Mr. Steen's attention to the fact that there are over forty places of business or trading concerns in Prince Albert, and that while we would like to have railway connection, we are not like some other places in the Northwest, unable to exist without it.

There is not a doubt that the Northwest has a great future before it. The Pacific Railway has provided the artery of travel and of immigration which was necessary to it, but the fertility of its soil will be the great attraction which will draw settlers to it. No doubt settlers will have some hardships to endure, and no doubt some will take up land who are not fitted for agricultural life, and these will fail. But on the whole, the settlers are pleased with the country and confident of their success in it. Their hardships are not so great as those of the early settlers in Ontario, and the probationary period through which they must pass will be short. The Ontario pioneer was forced to clear his farm before he could cultivate it, and he became a middle-aged man before he could begin to live in anything like comfort. The Northwest settler has just to fide over a year or two and then all is plain sailing before him. —Hamilton Spectator.

While Canadians have been staggered on many occasions by the lamentable ignorance which some English journals display of Canada and Canadian institutions, it is a pleasure to us to be able to find one (The Tablet) able to speak intelligently and truthfully of "how they manage it in Canada." In its issue of the 22nd of May it reviews the history of Canada since Confederation, giving the causes which led to the union, and concludes: "It only remains to be said that by federation the straggling colonies of North America have been united into one vigorous brotherhood—that the measure has been a success both politically, socially and commercially, and that the Dominion is now making rapid strides in the development of her immense resources which will one day place her amongst the great nations of the world, always, we hope and believe, under the British flag, of which her sons are admittedly so proud.

MISTAKEN SYMPATHY.

Says Le Press: "Louis Riel was hanged on November 16. His newborn infant died in its mother's arms. Then the mother died. It will soon be the turn of the old mother, who has already lost her reason. Surely the vengeance of the Orange lodges incited by Sir John Macdonald, and by the French Canadian Ministers, who sacrificed the honor of the country, is by this time glutted. Is not the ruin of the unfortunate race of French and Catholic halfbreeds, which they have determined to root out of the Northwest, simply because it is French and Catholic, now complete? Whilst the wretched widow was lying in agony on her deathbed thinking of him who is no more, and of her poor babes whom she has left friendless in the world, the Parliament of Quebec, urged by our Ministers to show its devotion to Sir John and Sir Hector, refused to express the slightest regret for the death of Riel. Nay, that horde of partisans actually endeavored to dishonor his memory." This is very touching, but is not likely to awake much sympathy in the hearts of those who knew the "late lamented deceased" chief of the Metis, though no one with a love for poor outraged humanity can fail to have sympathy for his mother, wife and children. It is, fortunately, seldom the lot of a family in the Northwest to be cursed with a husband and father so utterly useless as a protector, as was Louis Riel. He was the personification of beggary born of idleness, while at the same time he was a tyrant, who exercised his scanty education and prophetic powers to force his brother Metis to join with him in the endeavor to defy the Government, and he more than any other man, is responsible for the ruin of the French halfbreeds of the South Branch. Sympathy for him? Well, we mistake very much the temper of the French of Lower Canada if they are to be influenced by such appeals to vote against Sir John Macdonald, whose only mistake with regard to Riel was in not hanging him when he first rebelled. It would have saved a great deal of trouble, and the Metis of the South Branch would have been spared the humiliation which he brought upon them.

But the strangest feature in this endeavor to arouse opposition to the Government of Sir John Macdonald is the course pursued by the Globe. We can understand the Globe opposing Sir John on purely party grounds. That is its business. But when we find a prominent journal shedding tears of sympathy for a creature who richly deserved hanging, we confess it astonishes us. Has the Globe no tears of sympathy to shed for the murdered people of Frog Lake, no tears of sympathy for the gallant boys who laid down their lives in defence of their flag? Has it no tears of sympathy for the widows and orphans, and the bereaved parents whose sorrows were brought about by the machinations of Riel and his lieutenants? No, apparently none. It is too busy shedding tears over the tomb of a man who during his life was a burden to his friends, a curse to his people, and who deserved as richly to die as the murderer of Hon. Thomas D'Arcy McGee. The needs of the Liberal party must be great when its organs are driven to such tactics as these.

Col. Scheetz, representing the Home Cattle Company, of St. Louis, has arrived at Wood Mountain with a large party to establish head quarters, and make the necessary arrangements for their ranch, which is located in the immediate vicinity of this post. They have en route from Helena seven thousand head of cattle, to be followed in a short time by an additional ten thousand. They propose to bring in a total of twenty-five thousand head. They have secured a lease of seven hundred thousand acres for twenty-one years. They express themselves highly pleased with the country as a grazing district.

The police patrol, which has been established along the boundary is doing good service in putting a stop to horse stealing and crimes of that nature.

The mail arrived at noon on Tuesday last, bringing in one passenger, Mr. Marsh, a student of Knox College, who will perform ministerial duty at Carrot River, and teach in the college here during the summer.

NOVA SCOTIA.

For the information of those who may not understand them we give the main planks in the platform of the secessionists:

"That the total debt of Canada is $28,000,000 (twenty-eight millions more debt than she had when she entered the union) or $700,000 per annum. That besides, by no increase in tariff they are now contributing $1,000,000 annually on their present consumption. That for this enormous debt and annual contribution to the Dominion Treasury they have never received adequate return; That the Dominion Government gave the C. P. R. $65,000,000 of which Nova Scotia pays $1,500,000, the interest on which at five per cent amounts to $750,000 annually for the construction of a way from which they receive no benefit; That while granting this and other large subsidies to the west, not a mile of railway has been constructed in Nova Scotia by the Dominion since confederation except the Dartmouth branch, which was only undertaken when the municipality guaranteed an interest of four per cent on its cost; That no effort has been made by the Government at Ottawa to secure the renewal of a reciprocity treaty with the United States; That the manufacturers and people of the west are opposed to such a treaty, as expressed by the Toronto Mail, the organ of the Government and Tory party; That the award of four and a half millions received from the American government for the use of our fisheries, the largest part of which belonged to Nova Scotia, has been taken to pay off the debts of Canada, and for public works from which we receive no advantage; That the total disregard of our provincial rights and interests, and reckless extravagance in increasing the public debt and annual expenditure of the Dominion are exhausting the resources and energies of our people, and render it utterly impossible that we can any longer remain a part of the confederation."

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

A Buffalo Rancher to be Married.

The Winnipeg Sun says: Major Bell, of the famous Bell farm, is at the Queen's on a short visit to the city. "Everything on the farm looks splendid at present," he said. "I never in any previous year saw anything to equal the condition of the crops at this season. I expect wheat will be headed out in two weeks."

"What about the proposed agricultural college?"

"Well, Prof. Tanner who is to have charge of it is now in England to obtain students. We expect to have about fifty students so that it will be quite a large institution. Prof. Tanner and an assistant will conduct the college and instruction will be given in practical and theoretical farming. A small sum will be charged students to cover actual expenses. I feel sure it will be a great success and will be the means of inducing many young Englishmen and others to come to this country and settle, after receiving a thorough training in the college."

"I noticed in the Sun last night," continued the Major, "a newspaper article about a man in Texas who was starting a buffalo ranch, and it was referred to as a novel and excellent idea. I was specially interested in it, as a number of us are now forming a joint stock company to start a buffalo ranch near Winnipeg. We have purchased Capt. Redson's herd of buffalo, and intend to start a fancy stock farm. We will get some three or four hundred cattle and cross them with buffalo, and will also bring to the country a large number of thoroughbred cattle."

TERRITORIAL NEWS.

FORT McLEOD.

From the Gazette.

Christ Church, (Episcopal) Fort McLeod, was destroyed by fire on the 2nd inst. It was the finest church in the diocese of Saskatchewan. The total loss is estimated at between $4,000 and $5,000. Immediate steps are being taken to build a new church.

The prisoner named Colville undergone one year's sentence in the police guard room for stealing a revolver, escaped last night. He bored through the floor of his cell. A party has gone in pursuit.

REGINA.

From the Leader.

The Long Lake Railway was opened on the 7th inst., for traffic to Crazeau, a distance of twenty-five miles. About fifty people took advantage of an invitation extended by Mr. G. R. Pugsley to take a trip to the end of the track. They returned about five p. m. in time to partake of a dinner at the Palmer House. Toasts were drunk, wishing success to Mr. Pugsley and his enterprise. Track laying will be completed to Long Lake this week, when a boat will be put on the lake opening up a new route to that town.

EDMONTON.

From the Bulletin.

Presbyterian churches are being erected at Clover Bar and Fort Saskatchewan, which are stations connected with the Edmonton congregation. These churches are to be neat and commodious log buildings, and they are to be completed in the early part of the summer.
